

The Herald and News.

PUBLISHED
EVERY THURSDAY AT
NEWBERRY, S. C.

A REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONER.
The Death of Mrs. Sarah J. Neal, of Darlington—At 18 she married a Veteran of 80—Her Husband's Adventures.

[Special to News and Courier.]

DARLINGTON, S. C., September 8.—On Tuesday, September 4, Mrs. Sarah J. Neal, aged 91 years, died in Darlington County. She was the widow of a soldier of the Revolutionary army.

Mrs. Sarah Neal was born in Sampson County, North Carolina. Her maiden name was Sarah Miller, and her father, John Miller, served in the war of 1812 in defense of Charleston. At the age of 14 years Sarah Miller moved into South Carolina and settled in Darlington County, where, at the age of 32 years, she married James Neal, then about 80 years of age. The marriage took place in the store house belonging to Moses Landers in the town of Darlington. This was in March, about the year 1825 or 1826. She lived with her husband about nine years, when he died, April 21, 1835. He was buried six miles below Darlington. All papers referring to his services were lost by the burning of a house on High Hill Creek, in the county, several years ago. In spite of her great age Mrs. Neal had a lively recollection of what her husband had told of some of the scenes through which he had passed during his army life. She remembered that she spoke of having seen Gen. Washington.

James Neal was born in Virginia, and probably served there before he came to South Carolina. Here he served under Col. Huger and another officer named Wallace, whose rank Mrs. Neal could not remember. He also served with Gen. Marion under Capt. Gavin Witherspoon. He was taken prisoner three times. At one time eleven of the patriots were captured and their escort camped on the bank of the river. During the night the British officers had a supper and together with the guard they drank too much. The prisoners, taking advantage of this, jumped into the river and made their escape. When they reached the bank they did not know whether they were on the side of their friends or their enemies. Col. Huger, their own officer, saw them and called to them to halt, but they ran away. Huger followed calling "Huger! Huger!" until they recognized his voice.

James Neal was afterwards a prisoner in Charleston. While there he was over one of his captors that he exchanged clothes with the prisoner, and so assisted him to escape. At one time he was with a party which had been drawn into an ambush by the notorious Col. Tarleton, but by the skill and address of Col. Huger, their commander, they were rescued. Neal was once slightly wounded in the left leg by a bayonet. His commander, John Culp, was also wounded at the same time. This took place during an attack upon some position held by the British. They were both wounded just as they got into the works. These men lived long after the war, and died in 1835, Neal on Sunday and Culp the following Wednesday. Mrs. Neal was 92 years of age when he died. Mrs. Neal remembered that her husband spoke of having taken part in the battles of Fort Moultrie, Eutaw Springs, Cowpens, Pine Grove.

James Neal drew a pension of $8 per month from the United States Government. After his death she did not receive anything from the Government for nine years, but through the kindness of Moses Huggins a pension of $8 was given to her. During the war between the States she got nothing, but afterwards B. F. Whittemore, then United States Senator from South Carolina, secured what was due to her for those four years. For this act of kindness she seemed very grateful to him. In the year 1887 the amount of her pension was raised to $12 per month, and this she got until the day of her death.

Mrs. Neal was a woman of medium size, and in her youth must have been pretty. Her eyes were blue and her hair of dark brown. While speaking of the past her face would light up with intelligence and the mind seemed to grow clearer as she told of things that her husband had said.

Milliners Advertisements on Broadway.

[New York Sun.]

Those physical wrecks of men who pace wearily up and down Broadway with placards on their fronts and backs, and familiarly called sandwich men, are not the only persons who promenade as advertisements. Comelier advertisers are several girls sent out by leading milliner and dressmaking establishments. They are models chosen for perfection of face and figure, clothed in the newest and most pronounced costumes or bonnets, and then sent out to walk in Broadway and Fifth avenue.

The girls select? For this particular service are those who have been for several years used in their employers' stores as models on which to show off goods to wealthy purchasers, and thus have become known to those customers so well that, on being seen in the streets, they are instantly recognized. Thus the freshest wares offered for sale in those particular shops are announced under the most favorable circumstances. A dress or a bonnet seen out of doors on the person of a beautiful girl is, of course, powerfully recommended, and no doubt that the manufacturers who have resorted to this novel method of announcing their novelties find a good profit in it.

An Independent Candidate in Oceana.

[Seneca Free Press.]

We had heard it rumored that Dr. Fahnestock was an independent candidate for the Senate from this county. We saw him Tuesday night at the Coleman Hotel, and asked him if the report was true. He stated that he was a candidate and would make the race; that he thought the last primary was not fairly held, and much dissatisfaction had sprung up.

TO BUY JERUSALEM.

A New York Lady at the Head of a Great Masonic Scheme.

[New York World.]

A scheme is being evolved in the apartments on the second floor of No. 169 West Twenty-third street by Mrs. E. Quimley which, she says, will create a great stir in Masonic circles when it is made public. The scheme was all loaded and ready to be fired this coming Sunday, and in order that the public should have the earliest intelligence of it, Mrs. Quimley sent this notice to the newspaper offices:

"In memory of Dr. Robert Morris, Masonic poet laureate and the founder of the Order of the Eastern Star, Adapted Free Masonry, a lecture will be given by the Past Associate Grand Matron, on 'Jesus, Judaism and Jerusalem,' also a shrine will be dedicated at Masonic Temple, Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street, Sunday evening."

Mrs. Quimley notified newspaper offices yesterday that the affair had been postponed on account of an accident to somebody, but she imparted some information to the reporter.

"This plan is," said she, "to get people interested and take up collections for the purpose of buying the ancient city of Jerusalem and rebuilding the temples as a sort of monument for future generations. There is no reason why this should not be done, and I will notify you when the lecture comes off."

THE LARGEST CROP EVER RAISED.

Seven Million Bales of Cotton Made in the South in the Crop Year Just Ended.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The cotton crop of the United States for the year ended September 1, 1888, as compiled by the Financial Chronicle amounted to 7,017,707 bales, against 6,513,662 bales in 1887, and 6,550,215 bales for 1886. Of the crop of 1888 there was exported 4,688,981 bales, while spinners took 2,329,294 bales leaving a stock on hand of 151,225 bales. The largest previous crop was that of 1882-83, which amounted to 6,992,290 bales.

Platform of the South Carolina Democracy.

The following is the platform adopted at the State Convention, September 8th:

The Democratic party of South Carolina, in State convention assembled, reaffirming their allegiance and devotion to the principles of the Democratic party, declare the following to be the principles and policy of the Democratic party in state and federal affairs:

First—Wise and just legislation; the impartial administration of equal laws; efficiency with economy in every department of the State Government.

Second—Popular education is the bulwark of free institutions. Liberal support for the public schools for the whole people.

Third—The present protection tariff taxes the many for benefit of a favored few. The duties on imports should be decreased. The early repeal of the duty on cotton ties, on the machinery used in the manufacture of cotton and wool, and on tools and agricultural implements will stimulate manufactures and be a relief to the farmers.

Fourth—The public credit, national and State, must be maintained.

Fifth—In its conduct of affairs in the State the Democracy has been actuated by a desire to promote the greatest good to the State. Democratic unity public safety and private security.

Sixth—In the State, justice and equity for all, to insure harmony and good will between the races. In the union no sectionalism in policy or feeling—an indissoluble union of indestructible states; one flag, one country.

Resolved, That the administration of President Grover Cleveland has given to the country a government in accordance with the principles of its founders, preserving peace and tranquility within its borders, while maintaining with firmness and decision the character and integrity of American institutions and securing the blessings of freedom and prosperity for the country.

Resolved, That this convention endorses the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman, and urge for them the earnest support of the Democracy of South Carolina.

Resolved, That this convention endorses the declaration of principles adopted by the National Democratic convention at St. Louis.

A Profitable Practice.

Citizen (to physician)—You have a large practice among the wealthy and fashionable class of people haven't you, doctor?

Physician—Oh, my, yes; very many of the finest monuments and tombstones in Woodlawn cover former patients of mine.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. It is called Electric Bitters, and for seven years she has withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night, and with one bottle was miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. L. L. Lutz, of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at Coffey & Lyons' Drug Store."

W. J. Bailey, of Clinton, Laurens county, and Miss Jacobs, daughter of Dr. W. P. Jacobs, President of the Clinton College and Orphanage, were married at Clinton Wednesday night. The ceremony took place before a large assemblage in the Presbyterian church, the father and grandfather of the bride officiating. The gentlemen and ladies in waiting were: Mr. McCord, of Laurens, with Miss Richardson of Laurens; Dr. Davis Furman, of Greenville, with Miss Duckett, of Clinton; Mr. Bailey, brother of the groom, with Miss Jacobs, sister of the bride. An elegant wedding supper followed.

There was a case of robbery in the city last Tuesday afternoon, near the Savannah Valley depot. Two negro boys by force took from Mr. T. D. Sloan's hat box, aged about twelve years, a satchel containing $10. They were soon captured by Policeman McCruder and the money recovered. The case was settled Tuesday by a colored parson of the city taking the boys from the calaboose and giving them about forty lashes. This was probably the best settlement that could have been made of the case.

The Credit System a Failure.

A number of workmen on the Red River bridge, at Arthur, Texas, raised amounting to $80 at the saloon of John Ghio, then boarded a train to go to St. Louis. Ghio heard of their intention and got on the train, too, with his shotgun. At a watering tank, two miles beyond the Texas line, he started through to collect his bills. The first man paid without a murmur, but the others jumped the train and took to the woods, with Ghio in pursuit, firing at him. No one was hit, and the saloon-keeper went home impressed with the idea that the credit system is a failure.

A Curious Will.

An eccentric will will be tested in the courts at Perth in December. A physician, Dr. Goldberger, of Buda, left $250,000 to accumulate for his posterity until the interest would be sufficient to relieve destitution everywhere. The trustees calculated that they could effect a distribution when the capital reached $1,000,000,000, but they declined to act. The will will now be contested by claimants in America, London and Madrid.

The Final Figures of Maine.

LEWISTOWN, ME., Sept. 13.—The Lewistown Journal has returns from all towns in Maine. Burleigh has 73,603; Putnam 61,108; Cushing 2,927; Simmons 97,108; Republican plurality 18,495. The Legislature and Senate are all Republican. House 123 Republicans, 25 Democrats.

An Ex-Charlestonian Elected Mayor of Bessemer.

BESSEMER, September 11.—After an exciting contest Major Charles F. Hard was elected mayor of Bessemer yesterday by a majority of 142 of the 170 votes cast.

WE have, perhaps, a fine set of Mill Boulders as a in the State. We make mill equal to any Water-mill. We grind any time we get 4 or 5 bushels of corn. When the Mill is not running, we keep Meal Chips and Grits of our grinding to exchange for corn, or to sell.

DOMINICK & LOVELAKE.

INDIGENOUS AND PERISHABLE.

Advertising has always proven successful. Before placing any Newspaper Advertising consult LORD & THOMAS, 45 to 49 South Street, CHARLOTTE.

WE have formed a partnership of the above style and firm name for the purpose of buying and selling Real Estate, renting lands and collecting rents, and hereby solicit the patronage of land owners.

WE HAVE FOR SALE:

1. One plantation of 650 acres on Indian Creek in farming condition. Price $9000.

2. 3500 ft. six room cottage and lot in Newberry—one-third cash; balance in three annual installments.

3. $8,500 for 1 two story brick house in Newberry town, Newberry, S. C.

4. 12,8000 for 500 acres of cotton land, 100 acres of which is original forest. Terms: One-third cash; balance in five annual installments.

5. Five farms, containing from 85 to 150 acres each, and a farm of 1,500 acres, all on easy terms.

FOR RENT: One six-room dwelling in town of Newberry, owned by M. A. Carlisle.

CARLISLE & LANE.

NO MERCURY, NO POTASH, Or any other Mineral Poison.

It is Nature's Remedy, made exclusively from Roots and Herbs.

It is perfectly harmless.

It is the only remedy known to the world that cures all the diseases of the blood in all its stages.

It cures Mercurial Rheumatism, Cancer, Scrofula, and other blood diseases heretofore considered incurable. It cures any disease caused from impure blood. It is now prescribed by thousands of the best physicians in the United States as a tonic.

We have a book giving a history of this wonderful remedy, and its cures, from all over the world, which will convince you that all we say is true, and which we will mail free on application. No family should be without it. We have an agent on Contagious Blood Poison, sent on same terms.

Write us a history of your case, and our physician will advise you how to use it, in chronic cases. We will mail you a bottle free on application. For sale by all druggists.

THE SWEET BLOOD CURE, Dr. J. C. Allen, 24, New York, 100 Broadway, London, 24, St. James Street.

FINE LIQUORS, TOBACCO AND CIGARS, Fancy Groceries, CONFECTIONERIES, ETC.

HAVING recently repainted and refurnished my Bar and Tavern, I have a first class and comfortable place for the entertainment of my customers. I will be pleased to serve you.

H. C. SUMMER.

AGENTS LOOK! HERE! A Good Opportunity

For a Few Active, Energetic Business Men and Women To Earn Some Money.

WE WANT canvassers in this territory. Our books are the best of the kind in the South, and have the most attractive and fastest selling line of books to be found anywhere. Read this circular list and see what our offers are doing:

"THE WELL-SPRINGS OF